Application Fee

All applications must be accompanied by the course application fee and membership fee* (if you are already a member just provide the £50 course application fee). These will be returned if the CIPR is unable to accept applications for any reason, or if the course applied for is cancelled. Otherwise no refunds will be given. Please note that the CIPR cannot invoice for the £50 application fee or the £145 membership fee. However receipts will be issued on request. The £50 application fee is part of the CIPR Awarding Body fee and this amount will be deducted from the final CIPR invoice for the Awarding Body fees.

If paying by cheque the £50 application fee should NOT be added to the £145 membership fee. These should be sent as two separate cheques as they will be cashed at different times.*

Please complete the details below:

I enclose a cheque made payable to Chartered Institute of Public Relations for £50 []

Please deduct from my credit / debit card below the sum of £50 []

Conditions and confirmation

I have read and understand the terms and conditions below and confirm that all the information I have provided on this application form is correct:

Signature _____ Date _____

REMINDER: Have you attached all relevant documents and payments to your application? (See Page 1)

Please return your completed forms and payment to:

Chartered Institute of Public Relations, Public Relations Centre, 52 – 53 Russell Square, London, WC1B 4HP.

TERMS & CONDITIONS:

COURSE FEES: The course Awarding Body fee MUST be paid in full prior to the start of the course or 30 days from date of invoice (whichever is the soonest). The application fee will be returned if the CIPR is unable to accept applications for any reason, or if the course applied for is cancelled. Otherwise no refunds will be given. REFUNDS: In the event of cancellation by the course participant a full refund (minus the £50 application fee) will be given up to 14 days before the start date of a course. From 14 days prior to the start date, to the commencement of the course, a 50% refund (minus the £50 application fee), will be given. No refunds will be given after a course has started. In the event of cancellation of a course by the CIPR, refunds will be given in full. This does not affect your statutory rights. Places are non-transferable. DEFERRALS: Occasionally students may encounter pressures through work or personal circumstances that make it difficult to complete the course in one academic year. In such circumstances, providing the student can show valid reason*, the student will be able to either withdraw from the course entirely, and to postpone teaching and assessments not yet taken to the following academic year, or to defer some or all assessments to the following academic year. A deferral fee will apply. MEMBERSHIP: Once activated, membership cannot be deferred or cancelled. No refunds will be given unless the course is cancelled by the CIPR. The membership subscription will be due for renewal at the rate relevant to your grade. Only one term of discounted membership is applicable per course. ABUSIVE BEHAVIOUR: This will not be tolerated either verbally or written. In exceptional circumstances action may be taken against students who continue to use abusive behaviour and this may result in their place on the course being cancelled and no refund given. *Guidelines on what constitutes a 'valid reason' for deferral, together with the procedure for deferral, will be issued to students at the start of the course.

CIPR Code of Conduct

Section A: CIPR Principles

1. Members of the CIPR agree to:
 - ❖ Maintain the highest standards of professional endeavour, integrity, confidentiality, financial propriety and personal conduct;
Deal honestly and fairly in business with employers, employees, clients, fellow professionals, other professions and the public;
 - ❖ Respect the customs, practices and codes of clients, employers, colleagues, fellow professionals and other professions in all countries where they practise;
 - ❖ Take all reasonable care to ensure employment best practice including giving no cause for complaint of unfair discrimination on any grounds;
 - ❖ Work within the legal and regulatory frameworks affecting the practice of public relations in all countries where they practise;
 - ❖ Encourage professional training and development among members of the profession;
 - ❖ Respect and abide by this Code and related Notes of Guidance issued by the Chartered Institute of Public Relations and encourage others to do the same.

Principles of Good Practice

2. Fundamental to good public relations practice are:
 - Integrity
 - ❖ Honest and responsible regard for the public interest;
 - ❖ Checking the reliability and accuracy of information before dissemination;
 - ❖ Never knowingly misleading clients, employers, employees, colleagues and fellow professionals about the nature of representation or what can be competently delivered and achieved;
 - ❖ Supporting the CIPR Principles by bringing to the attention of the CIPR examples of malpractice and unprofessional conduct.

Competence

- ❖ Being aware of the limitations of professional competence; without limiting realistic scope for development, being willing to accept or delegate only that work for which practitioners are suitably skilled and experienced;
- ❖ Where appropriate, collaborating on projects to ensure the necessary skill base.

Transparency and conflicts of interest

- ❖ Disclosing to employers, clients or potential clients any financial interest in a supplier being recommended or engaged;
- ❖ Declaring conflicts of interest (or circumstances which may give rise to them) in writing to clients, potential clients and employers as soon as they arise;
- ❖ Ensuring that services provided are costed and accounted for in a manner that conforms to accepted business practice and ethics.

Confidentiality

- ❖ Safeguarding the confidences of present and former clients and employers;
 - ❖ Being careful to avoid using confidential and 'insider' information to the disadvantage or prejudice of clients and employers, or to self-advantage of any kind;
 - ❖ Not disclosing confidential information unless specific permission has been granted or the public interest is at stake or if required by law;
 - ❖ Maintaining professional standards
3. CIPR members are encouraged to spread awareness and pride in the public relations profession where practicable by, for example:
 - ❖ Identifying and closing professional skills gaps through the Institute's Continuous Professional Development programme;
 - ❖ Offering work experience to students interested in pursuing a career in public relations;
 - ❖ Participating in the work of the Institute through the committee structure, special interest and vocational groups, training and networking events;
 - ❖ Encouraging employees and colleagues to join and support the CIPR;
 - ❖ Displaying the CIPR designatory letters on business stationery;
 - ❖ Specifying a preference for CIPR applicants for staff positions advertised;
 - ❖ Evaluating the practice of public relations through the use of the CIPR Research & Evaluation Toolkit and other quality management and quality assurance systems (e.g. ISO standards); and constantly striving to improve the quality of business performance;
 - ❖ Sharing information on good practice with members and, equally, referring perceived examples of poor practice to the Institute.

Interpreting the Code

4. In the interpretation of this code, the Laws of the Land shall apply.
